

Dr. Tim's Key Phrases for Leaders

Tim Lautzenheiser

Vol 4, #2, p.44 (Nov-Dec 1988)

[Complete article from BANDWORLD Magazine]

- You can't do everything, but you can do something.
- To lead a symphony, one must sometimes turn his back on the crowd.
- Ships don't come in: they are brought in.
- There are no limits to the amount of good you can accomplish if you don't care who gets the credit.
- Oversleeping will never make dreams come true.
- Each man has many faces: those he exhibits; those he has; those he thinks he has; and those he hopes he will one day have.
- A mistake is at least evidence that someone tried to do something.
- There aren't any rules for success that work unless you do.
- A diamond is a piece of coal that stuck to the job.
- One reason that big apples are always on the top of the basket is that there are always a lot of little ones holding them up there.
- There are no uninteresting things; just uninteresting people.
- Keep your mind open; something good might enter.
- Failure is the line of least persistence.
- One of the best things a man can have up his sleeve is his funny bone.
- Success depends on the second letter.
- Ideas are funny-they won't work unless you do.
- Tomorrow is often the busiest day of the week.
- When you make your mark in the world, watch out for the guys with the erasers.
- If you blame others for your failures, do you credit them with your successes.

Source: 4-2-44